Engineering teams often spend upwards of 20 hours per week manually scraping public data to understand their competitors. This playbook offers a turnkey solution where a coordinated team of AI agents executes a long-horizon reconnaissance mission that uncovers hidden insights and provides actionable intelligence. What's included:

What's included:

What's included:

- Integrated, peer-reviewed report -- Ensures data accuracy by cross-referencing findings across multiple sources.
- Concrete next actions -- Transforms raw data into a strategic roadmap you can implement immediately.
- Real public knowledge base -- Grounds all intelligence in verifiable, real-world data sources.
- Long-horizon mission logic -- Simulates deep-dive research projects that uncover subtle trends and opportunities.
- Multi-agent coordination -- Leverages specialized agent roles to cover different aspects of the market.

Who this is for:

This is designed for technical founders, product developers, and AI system architects who require deep situational awareness.

Real example:

Before: A solo founder spent three weekends manually visiting 50 competitor websites and manually entering data into spreadsheets.

What you'll achieve:

What you'll achieve:

- Generate a comprehensive competitive landscape matrix including pricing and feature sets within 24 hours.
- Identify specific underserved market segments ("white space") where competitors are currently weak.
- Replace manual desk research with a fully automated, reproducible agent workflow.

What you'll achieve:
